

70,000 MEN GO ON STRIKE IN RUSSIA

Military Dictatorship is Looked For and Revolutionists Prepare for Strife

GIGANTIC STRUGGLE IS NEAR

Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievitch Will Be Named by Emperor as Commander of All the Troops in the Empire to Put Down the Rebellion

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 4.—With a general strike formally declared and the country apparently on the threshold of a gigantic struggle, minor issues fade in the background. The strike inaugurated today gathers sufficient headway to endanger the life of the State. It has virtually been decided that Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievitch will be named commander of all the troops in the Empire where martial law exists which would be tantamount to the decreeing of a military dictatorship.

It is possible, however, that the Government will not be driven to this extremity as the showing made today by the St. Petersburg proletariat was not impressive.

70,000 Men on Strike

Although nearly 70,000 workmen are reported to be out at nightfall, many of them appear to be entering the struggle with heavy hearts. The spontaneity with which practically the entire nation arrayed itself against the old regime last fall is lacking, the endurance of the people has been sapped by the long strain the sympathy of the more conservative Labor has been alienated by fear of a revolution and the lowest elements of the population have been organized at what is known as Black Hundreds and are ready to enter the night on the side of the Government if the signal is given.

Discussions Are Rare

Discussions also take place among the leaders over the opportunity of the strike. But these will probably be held over the response of the country show that the nation endorses the movement. Moscow and St. Petersburg have decided to issue the strike upon which the initial success depends. Although committed to the strike, the Government has ordered a strike on the ultimatum of the proletariat leaders which is present is much a must depend the attitude of the troops. If the military supports the Government stand up, they will not be able to continue. The strike will be a long and arduous one. STEAMER IS DECLARED A MENACE TO HEALTH

WORK IS RESUMED IN BIG MONTANA SMELTERS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4.—The steamer Whitchell from Colon was today declared a menace to the health of all ports and orders were given by the State Board of Health to hold her immediately at the Mississippi River quarantine station. The Whitchell has one of the worst fever epidemics on shipboard in the records for tropical shipping having arrived here two days ago with an outbreak of Chagrin fever.

With the death today of the steamer's second officer, three of her complement of twenty-one men have already died and sixteen others are in the hospital. Quarantine officials say that when the Whitchell entered the Mississippi River with scarcely a man on board, the disease was already on her decks, that the men of experience need physical and mental rest as they boarded her. The steamer will not be permitted to come to New Orleans under today's orders even after the fever is cured.

It was assumed that a defective roof and deflecting sparks were the cause of the conflagration. The fire fighting force at Sparks was called out in the yards as soon as the locomotive pulled in the burning car was quickly isolated and the flames extinguished before damage was done to the remainder of the train. The nails which were consigned to San Francisco are a total loss.

AHERN NAMED AS REPUBLICAN CHOICE IN CAUCUS

May Run for Position of State's Chief Executive at Next Election Time

EVERYTHING IS NOT ENTIRELY HARMONIOUS

District Attorney Craig's Successor Is Discussed and Names Suggested

THERE was a Republican caucus held in Reno last night and though the proceedings of the meeting were kept secret it is understood that the principal discussion was over the names for the governorship and the successor for District Attorney Craig's position.

The man who was named prominently as a likely candidate for governor was Con Aherne of Virginia City. The latter was seen last night by the Journal but declined to discuss the situation. He admitted however that he had been nominated by the convention but could not make a strong fight to win.

When the caucus in Virginia City took place with a party of fellow Republicans in an automobile. Craig's successor was also discussed. The action of the caucus in this matter was entirely unofficial as the county commissioners have the appointing power and politics has at little to do with the situation. The consensus of the members attending however was to the effect that if it could be difficult to fill the place which will be made vacant by Craig's retirement and it was deemed wise to suggest to the commissioners a man who would be acceptable to the city, the state and the nation.

Judging from the temper of the delegates to the meeting everything did not seem entirely harmonious. A radical difference of opinion was evident as to personalities and it was concluded that no definite conclusion had been arrived at as to the personnel of the ticket which will be opposed by Democrats at the polls.

Nomination of Wm. J. Bryan Is Strongly Urged

Former Mayor Quincy of Boston Is Favorable to the Nominations

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The candidacy of William J. Bryan for the Democratic nomination for President was the subject of a statement given out this afternoon by former Mayor Quincy, chairman of the Democratic state committee. Quincy strongly urged the nomination of Bryan. He said: "As far as I can learn the sentiment of the political members of the State and local Democratic organization in the Commonwealth at the present time is overwhelmingly in favor of the nomination of Bryan in 1908. I have no doubt that this feeling will not favorably express itself at the next time perhaps very soon."

At Initial Concert in Virginia City, Returned Singer Makes Tremendous Impression and Will Duplicate Success in This City Soon

VIRGINIA CITY, Aug. 4.—The concert tonight given by Dick Tobin was a great success and the most sanguine expectations of the most musical host of the city were fully justified. His art has matured.

Evans from David H. Day, chief of the division of the United States Geological Survey. ASKS PROTECTION FROM DYNAMITERS

Tonopah Man Telegraphs He Fears Destruction by Industrial Workers MAY BLOW UP HIS OFFICE

Attorney-General Sweeney Receives Wire From Mining Town That Labor Organization Threatens Newspaper and Alleging Authorities Dare Not Intervene

FEARING that his building will be dynamited by the Industrial Workers of the World Editor Branson of the Tonopah Sun telegraphed to Attorney-General Sweeney for protection. The proprietor of the paper alleges that Sheriff L. L. Sweeney is a traitor and that he is the enemy of the labor organization.

According to a report from Tonopah two editors employed by the Sun were assaulted and beaten severely by members of sympathizers of the Industrial Workers. Last night Branson claims the alleged riot is his office and that he is making a fight to destroy the newspaper.

Before my office is of the law is imported into Tonopah a thorough investigation of the State of affairs there will be made by Governor Sparks and Attorney-General Sweeney. The latter stated last night that he does not intend serious consequences and that he would result from a riotous night which ought to be easily settled.

The Industrial Workers of the World have been represented officially or unofficially by Roberts and Shaw. These men have attempted unsuccessfully it is said to organize a branch of the body in the mining towns. Branson telegraphed to the fact against these men and called these agitators. Carbons were published in the Sun depicting Shaw as a traveling photographer whose only means of making a living is as an agitator and instigator of labor troubles. Shaw in turn claims that his business is legitimate and his sympathies have allied themselves in sentiment with the Sun.

The Miners Union is not affiliated with the Industrial Workers and when the recent strike among the miners was started by the operators against it is said that the latter organization representatives were not satisfied with the outcome. Branson has censured these men for their attitude on the revolted table and the whole matter has a sultry air.

The rumor that Federal troops would be called into Tonopah to quell the disturbance is ridiculous. Sweeney and those in authority in this part of the State.

Asserts Sister Should Not Be in the Asylum

Sacramento Relative of Mad Annie Walsh Believes Woman Was Harassed to Confinement

Charging that Mad Annie Walsh has been railroaded to the State Hospital for the Insane in Reno, a sister of the patient to use her utmost efforts to have the patient released. Peter Walsh, husband of the alleged lunatic, is blamed for having placed his wife in custody, and the sister-in-law hints that his motive should be considered. It is asserted that the disclaimers of the story of the sensational career of the mad woman while masquerading as a man throughout the Atlantic States. Peter Walsh is the authority for the hunt arrests being the subject of many newspaper articles which Walsh has received from friends in the East.

That there is no conspiracy to keep the insane woman in the asylum is reiterated by Peter Walsh. Yet it is averred by the sister of Mrs. Walsh that her actions have never been such as to make her confinement a necessity. The complainant alleges that the story about her sister being a raving maniac is untrue, and this allegation is supported by the statement of Dr. Gibson, superintendent of the asylum.

Walsh claims that he is a poor blacksmith at Goldfield, and that he cannot support his wife in a private sanatorium. For this reason, he claims, she was brought to the asylum at Reno. Mrs. Annie Walsh escaped from the hospital for the insane here twice, going to Washington during the course of her wanderings. The last time she was free. There she was confined by the authorities in the Elizabeth Institute, and subsequently she was returning here in charge of a nurse and attending when she jumped through the window of the observation car of the Overland limited near Deeth. For days she hid on the desert with nothing to eat, but the food offered her by nomadic Indian tribes. Then she was captured and returned here.

When she was at last placed in a cell at the asylum the story was told that she became raving mad; but this is denied by Dr. Gibson, superintendent of the hospital. Having heard that she should be taken back to her home where she could live in peace.

FOURTEEN MONTHS' OLD CHILD HAS LEGS CRUSHED BENEATH WHEELS OF A TRAIN

CRIPPLED and deformed for life will probably be the lot of little Clyde Terry, the 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry, of Fort Churchill. Unseen by his mother, the little tot yesterday afternoon crawled from the box car in which Mr. and Mrs. Terry are re-freighted train which was doing some switching. The child was not seen by the train crew and two cars of freight passed over his feet, crushing the left leg at the ankle and one toe of the right foot.

The child was brought to this city last night by his parents, accompanied by Dr. Masterson. The injured boy was immediately taken to the St. George hospital, and Drs. Hood and Morrison summoned. It is not yet known whether amputation of the left limb will be necessary but it is thought the member will be saved.

Terry is agent for the Southern Pacific Company at Fort Churchill, on the Nevada and California railroad. There is no station house at that place and Terry has temporary quarters in a box car, which has been fitted up by the company. While the mother was engaged in housework, the child crawled to the track with the result narrated before.

NO BAND CONCERT FOR THIS SUNDAY EVENING
There will be no band concert tonight by the Park band at the City Park. This will be bad news for many who enjoyed the music last week and will not wait this week.

The boys play for nothing when they give these nightly concerts, and so feel at liberty to take a night off Sunday evening. Next week Sunday, however, another concert will be given, and Business Manager Elwood Bane states that the concert will continue during the rest of the warm weather, every Sunday night.

"We have been playing every night this week," said Bane yesterday, "and as most of the boys work during the daytime, we need a rest."

The public certainly appreciated the first concert last Sunday night and will anticipate with pleasure the cooking musical night next Sunday.

The officers of the newly organized Park band, which formerly was the Boys' band, are: Ben Butler, president; Ernest Mack, secretary and treasurer; Elwood Bane, business manager; and Ernest George, musical director and instructor.

Will Compete for Honors in California

Gib Douglass Leaves for Santa Cruz to Represent Reno in Big Tournament

W. G. Douglass left yesterday for Santa Cruz, where he will take part in the eight days' shooting tournament. He is regarded as the most likely man that Reno could send to this meet, and there are many who believe that he will return to this city with the honors. He has made a big record for himself in bluecock pigeon shoots at Moana Springs, and is regarded as a good shot as any of the best in this neighborhood.

If Douglass gets in the amateur class in the match at Santa Cruz, "there is nothing to it," say local marksmen. Only yesterday afternoon at the practice shoot at Moana Springs "Gib" made twenty-two out of a possible twenty-five, and this, with another gun, he will make normally from twenty-three to twenty-five out of twenty-five, and this will surely place him in the money in any class of marksmen, say the local sports.

BOAT BLOWN TO PIECES

Joe Vann, Cherokee Indian, who lived many years ago near Fort Gibson, L. T., possessed 500 slaves and thousands of acres of land. Some of his horses were fine racing stock, and he owned the Lucy Walker, the fastest steamer on the Arkansas River. Vann was good to his slaves—openly, he was generous, but he was an inveterate gambler. He lost and won large sums at horse racing and, in deed, he would not take a dare. He was in San Francisco more than once, and he was always there for the tragic circumstances of this remarkable Cherokee's end.

While his steamer had no rival for speed on the Arkansas River, from its mouth at the Mississippi to Little Rock and Port Gibson, there were two or three rivals on the Mississippi River, between St. Louis and New Orleans. One of these boats, said to be the fastest on the river, attempted to pass the Lucy Walker one day on the way down.

Vann had a crew of thirty negroes, and he had no superiors on the river. He told the boys that the Lucy Walker must be kept ahead, no matter at what cost. An allowance of grog was given to each, and all promised to stand up to the work.

The rival boat was gaining on them. The usual fuel failed to give sufficient speed. Vann went around and told the hands to gather up everything that would burn. Tar and bacon were thrown into the furnace, and soon the Lucy Walker was forging ahead of her rival.

Timbers of the boat cracked and groined. The furnace was red hot; the boilers were screeching and foaming; the heat was terrific. The passengers, of whom there were about 150, became alarmed, but Vann was cool as a cucumber. He told his negro crew that they would beat the rival boat or all go to Hades together, and they resolved to stand by him.

Then came an awful explosion, and nothing remained of the Lucy Walker but scattered fragments. Most of the negro crew were blown to atoms, besides about forty passengers killed, and nearly all more or less injured. Vann's body was found, horribly mangled.

ATTORNEY CHARTZ FIRES ANOTHER VOLLEY

Follows Up His Arguments Printed in The Journal Opposing the Appointment of a Nevada for the Position on Bench Vacated by Judge Hawley

Editor Journal—Just about the time the Journal was read, on the morning of your paper, I placed my car close to the phone and overheard: "There goes Chartz again." Then the item was read: "Don't mind him; he is afflicted with the itch scribbler." I affirmed in a Latin scholar. "Why, he is as bad as old Peck." "He ought to be squelched." "You can't do anything with him." "Give him more rope," etc.

Then several commenced to ease off their own itch, and out of the lot you chose the scratch made by Hartson & Morton, and I therefore take it as a fair sample. Your correspondents appear innocent of what is going on and evidently do not know how things happen.

If any lawyer can ever dictate and name a presiding judge, just watch him. He will dictate the judge, and the judge will dictate the public—the public will dictate the office of the attorney to whom he is indebted for his appointment or election. Albeit in San Francisco has more than he can do, and simply because it is believed that he dictates the nominations and is able to elect those he pleases to nominate and elect. Those who enjoy turf's favors loudly applaud and those who suffer loudly condemn—all being impelled by the pocketbook. It is the same unvarying spectacle the world over.

Judge Massey has proven himself above the average of judges, and I believe believe Hartson would also march up to the proper standard. Judge Massey, just before retiring from the bench, decided most important cases against the contentions of Judge Cheney, and then entered into partnership with him. A couple of days ago the Supreme Bench of California decided a case in favor of a certain attorney whose fee would amount to $50,000, and within a short time thereafter resigned and entered into partnership with said attorney. He may have decided the case strictly according to his understanding of the law and the facts, but it created a scandal and the suspicion remained, and like Caesar's wife, judges should be above suspicion.

It is "awful" uncomfortable to try a case before a judge who was formerly the partner of your opponent.

Nevada attorneys would not suffer if the principle I advocate were carried out. If they could the proper distinction they would act appoints elsewhere, and there are many more appointments to be made on the outside than within our borders.

It is common practice—but not an invariable rule—for attorneys to excuse from juries men of the highest honor and integrity, simply because they may be a little too closely associated with the attorney on the other side. And, in fact, unconsciously these great and good men are more prone to believe in the argument of their friends than of their opponents. Wise Gasabe attorneys will never abuse their opponent when they know he has friends on the jury. I might give you many other details of the secrets of the profession, which believe would be interesting, but I have given enough to start your readers on a line of thought, and they can finish the job in their own way.

Big Shoot at Moana Springs For Good Prize

There will be a big shoot today at Moana Springs for a cash prize and the championship of the state. The match will be for all no one is better and everybody is invited to participate.

As a sample of the series that will have to be beaten or at least equalled the following is the result of yesterday's shoot at the place. It was merely a practice try out but it is significant of the skill of local marksmen.

D Nettles 26 J. Miller 23 C. Lake 15 G. H. Douglas 22 Walter Minton 20 Jack Taylor 20. These scores were made out of a possible 25.

Blue rock pigeon shooting has become an established and favorite sport in Reno. The traps at Moana Springs from which the imitation birds are released are of the most modern description the killing of real birds which to many is an offensive sport is obviated and the zest of the game is enhanced by the difficulty in making high scores.

The match shoot with Carson which was to have come off today has been postponed until August 19th on account of the fact that the Carson team is not able to make the trip to Reno and back in a day and more than that time cannot be spared. On this account the match shoot will take place at Bowers Mansion. Although the trap at Moana Springs are more modern the Reno team which will compete with Carson is willing to hold the match at Bowers Mansion if much interest is already manifested in the event.

GANS-NELSON FIGHT IS NOW ASSURED

Thirty thousand dollars lie in a Goldfield bank to insure a fight between Gans and Nelson and the experts in Goldfield and Reno to say nothing of those in Carson and Virginia City are making their plans to see the mill which will surely be pulled off.

It will be a fight to a finish. At first it looked as though the Goldfield Club offered $10,000 for a fight between Gans and Nelson on Labor Day September 2nd or $20,000 for a fight between Gans and Nelson. The latter held out for $30,000 which sum was made up today and is deposited in the Goldfield bank.

On account of the prohibitive tax of $1,000 imposed by the State of Nevada the sportsmen of Goldfield, Tonopah and Manhattan have hungered for a go. It was easy to get the $30,000 together and the purse is up. Both Nelson and Gans are ready to sign.

Already the club is making arrangements for an amphitheater to accommodate the crowds that will go to the mill.

All the business men of Goldfield have subscribed to the purse and nothing remains now but for the men to sign and go to it. It is reported in Goldfield that both fighters have signified their willingness to sign the only condition being made is from Nelson who insists that he will sign up only under the condition that it be a fight to a finish and the entire purse to go to the winner. This it is understood is agreeable to Gans.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET CLOSES EASY

Bank Statement Showing Is a Mild Surprise to Speculators Generally—Grain and Produce Markets, Wools, Money and Livestock Quotations

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—All preliminary estimates of the changes in the stock statement proved at fault again today. The discrepancy was partly due to the fact that a new member of the clearinghouse was included in the showing for the first time today, thus disarranging the comparison of the averages. The estimates of the known movements of money yesterday seem to have made sufficient allowance for the effect of the redeposit of the Treasury funds against payment of Panama bonds subscriptions. The losses in cash, therefore, instead of rising to over $4,000,000 as was indicated, is less than $15,000,000. The losses were under pressure, partly on account of the bank showing no doubt. Rates for time loans were also appreciably higher and smaller supplies were said to be offered. There was also a firm tone and a sharp advance in foreign exchange rates in spite of the holiday in London which is to extend until Tuesday. The Stock Market was more influenced, however, by the evidence offered by yesterday's opinion that stocks are being distributed in speculative liquidation. The closing of the market was speculative favorites was continued today and only momentary support was offered by the market after the lower opening. By the time prices were restored to last night's level the force of the selling again became predominant and continued almost uninterrupted to the closing which was easy and at declines running from one to over two points for many of the prominent stocks.

Total sales, par value, $427,000.

Grain and Produce

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The wheat market was again under complete control by the bears who used their advantage to hammer the price down to a new low record mark for the season. The sharp break in the principal sellers early in the day, but toward the noon hour the selling became general and the market developed extreme weakness. The market closed very weak, prices being at the lowest point of the day. September opened $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢ lower at 73 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 73 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢, sold at 73 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and then declined to 71 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢. Final quotations were 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢ lower at 71 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 72 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.

An official forecast of showers tonight in Illinois caused weakness in the Corn market. The sharp break in the market was also caused by a depressing effect. Covering by shorts caused some reaction from the low point, but sentiment in the pit was dull all day. The close was weak. September opened unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ lower at 49 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 49 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢, sold off to 49 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and closed $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ lower at 49 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 49 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢.

Notwithstanding the weakness of Wheat and Corn, the Oats market was fairly steady. There was a good class of buying in evidence and offerings were not large. September opened $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ higher at 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, sold between 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and closed $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ lower at 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.

Provisions were quiet and steady. A 5¢ advance in Hogs was a bullish influence. Liberal shipments of Lard were tending to steady the market. The close. Pork was unchanged at 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢. Lard was off $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ at 18 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ and Ribs were 10¢ higher at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.

PORTLAND, Aug. 4.—Wheat—Club, 65¢ 60¢; bluestem, 70¢ 71¢; red, 65¢ 66¢, valley, 71¢ 72¢.

TONOPAH SENDING REPRESENTATIVE TO THE EAST

Richard Stockton, Secretary of the Board of Trade, to Make a Tour in the Interests of the Southern Camp and of the State as Well

Richard S. Stockton, secretary of the Tonopah Board of Trade, was in Reno yesterday for a few hours en route for the East, where he will spend about a month on official business connected with the commercial-civic organization with which he is associated. The growing importance of the Tonopah camp and other Southern Nevada mining districts, which importance is being discussed in the East, makes the present trip of the secretary most opportune. Although not supplied with all the literature which he thinks would be well for him to have, he is confident that his trip will be of direct benefit to the big and rich camp at Tonopah and of indirect advantage to the entire State.

"I am going with a confidence that will surely lead to results," said Stockton yesterday. "The danger of a great strike has been averted. In spite of statements made by agitators to the contrary, everything in Tonopah is harmonious. Mine owners and mine workers are a unit. Their interests are one and their relations are most friendly. Moreover, they will remain so for three years to come. There can be no labor troubles in Tonopah for three years. By that time there will no doubt be another and a similar agreement signed. Tonopah has entered in earnest on a great career and what advantages Tonopah has helps the State. It will be my aim to bring these facts before Eastern capital. I shall visit various Boards of Trade on my way East and will come in contact with men who it will be of advantage to interest in the claims of the Sagebrush State as a mining industry as yet scarcely developed."

MINING COMPANY FILES INCORPORATION PAPERS

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the German Mining Company with Reno as the principal place of business. The object of the company is to do a general business in mining and development and to carry on all such branches of business as will be beneficial to the company.

There are 1,000,000 shares of stocks, each having a par value of $1 each. The stockholders of the company are F. J. Gallery, Gabriel Schlessner, John Miller and R. Dabergolz, all of Reno.

BIG COAL MINING DEAL IS PUT THROUGH

Penna, Beach Creek and Eastern Coal Company, With a Capital of $8,000,000 Acquires Long Lease of Bituminous Fields

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 4.—It was reported today on the best authority that one of the largest deals in the history of the bituminous coal business was consummated this week, whereby a corporation known as the Penna, Beach Creek and Eastern Coal Company, with a capital of $8,000,000 acquires by a 999 year lease all the property and business of the Penna, Coal and Coke Company, the Beach Creek Coal and Coke Company and the North River Coal and Wharf Company, and a number of electric light and water companies controlled by the old corporations. C. D. Simpson and T. H. Watkins of Scranton are largely interested in the project.

The importance of this transaction will be readily appreciated from the fact that the new company will control approximately 125,000 acres of coal lands, collecting over 900,000,000 tons of coal, with forty-four coal mines and over 1,000 coke ovens now in operation.

The company owns 1,000 private railroad cars and will control the business already established in discol throughout Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

RENO, NEVADA, SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 5, 1906

Commence Now to Save Your Journal Coupons

No one knows who are to be the lucky winners of the Journal contest. Two prizes in real estate are to be given to the persons who have collected the largest number up to and including October 1st. The prizes are corner lots in the Wheeler-Burke addition, and are of the value of $150.

Taking the first step is always the most important, whether it be the baby's graduating from the creeping class or a project involving millions. If the first step is well thought out and well taken those that follow will come easier, surer and safer.

To the everyday man the investing of his earnings, gotten together by hard work and economy, whether it be in a home or otherwise, is one of the most important steps in life. He should look well into an offer before going ahead.

The Journal is offering two grand prizes absolutely free of charge to two persons in Reno. The conditions are simply to collect coupons from the Sunday Journal, or from merchants who give them with each 25-cent purchase.

M. Frank & Co., Mrs. W. J. Roberts, Riverside Studio, H. Fraley, J. R. Bradley & Co., Burns & Fisher, The Cann Drug Co., Carr & Elliott, Hudson Cycles, Reno Edit Market, Truckee Meat Market, Wiley B. Allen Piano Co., Wigg & Boughton, Reno Shoe Factory, Lent & Hansen, J. Mary, L. Radcliffe Jr., Humphrey Supply Co., W. L. Semenza Bros., Reno Mercantile Company, Nevada.

Cycle & Mfg. Co., Sewing Machines and Supplies (T. D. Dolling), The Busy Bee and H. J. Smith. These coupons are just as good as those clipped from The Sunday Journal. They count just the same.

It is a contest of energy, the prizes going to those two who work the hardest in collecting the largest number of coupons.

The prize lots are located in the Wheeler-Burke addition, right in the city of Reno and within eight minutes' walk from the business district. Knowing that the property is good and what we claim for it, we invite all those who are competing in this contest or who intend to save coupons, to visit the Wheeler-Burke addition. It will bear the keenest investigation.

CHINA MAY TAKE OFFENSE

PEKIN, August 4.—The United States is sending reinforcements to her legation guard. The present situation does not furnish uneasiness and Minister Rockhill has protested, saying it will offend the Chinese.

IMPURE MILK SUPPLY IS DUMPED IN GUTTER

NEW YORK, August 4.—The board of health campaign against the milk dealers is still in progress and milk is being daily dumped into the gutters where it belongs. A hot wave has settled over the city and has added to the difficulty in securing good milk. It is no uncommon sight to see an inspector hold up a milk wagon and dump the entire contents into the street. Thousands of quarts have been thus disposed of to the great advantage of the health of the city.

Inspector Williams hailed a man yesterday who was driving his milk wagon along Amsterdam avenue. He had fifty cans of impure milk. Every can was emptied in spite of the protestations of the angry milkman. Efforts are also being made to see that the milk is properly cooled, as often though the milk is not sour, when examined, it has been kept in too warm a place and is unhealthy.

STONES PASSING TRAINS

FORT COLLINS, Colo., August 4.—Deputy Sheriff Frank Whittaker left for Pueblo today with Homer Casey, who was adjudged insane in the county court yesterday. Casey broke several car windows on the way to Denver and it was necessary to use a straight jacket to subdue him. Whittaker forgot to take his commitment papers to the asylum with him and experienced some trouble in gaining admittance to the institution with the prisoner.

TAGGART TO REMARRY

WOOSTER, O., August 4.—An army officer in Columbus is quoted as saying that Captain Elmore Taggart, of divorce case notoriety, is soon to wed a Spanish woman, rich and beautiful, whom he met in Manila after getting his divorce.

LEAVES UTAH TO TAKE UP MINING IN NEVADA

CHIDEN, Utah, August 4.—Daniel W. Ellis, county recorder of Weber county for three consecutive years, has tendered his resignation to the county commissioners to take effect September 15th. Ellis, subsequent to his retirement from public office here, moved to Ely, Nev., where he has extensive property interests. The mining business of Nevada is picking up to such an extent that Ellis feels it is to his pecuniary advantage to go to the Sagebrush state.

Ellis, who has made an enviable reputation in Utah, came to this state as a civil engineer in 1885. He made the first surveys for the new depot here. It is likely he will again resume his business of surveying in connection with the growing mining business, which will give scope to his activities. He will retain his real estate holdings in this city.

SAVES FATHER'S LIFE

CODY, Wyo., August 4.—While driving near town, E. Wilder and daughter were thrown from a buggy yesterday and Wilder was seriously injured. His daughter, although severely hurt, ran all the way to town to summon aid for her unconscious father. His condition was serious and but for the arrival of medical aid it is believed he would have died in the road.

A BIG SHIPMENT OF Men's Golf Shirts

We have made arrangements with a careful, conscientious shirt manufacturer to make to our order a line of Golf Shirts, which in point of fit, make and desirability of patterns surpass any line of shirts in Reno. We personally selected the patterns and materials and gave instructions as to the making, having in mind at the time the tastes and demands of Reno's particular dressers.

The shirts are all in the popular coat style with cuffs attached. The patterns are nearly all light, in neat stripes, checks and dots. Fancy buttons take the place of the ordinary plain ones.

We invite you to look them over when visiting this store, and are sure you will agree with us that they are far ahead of ordinary sorts.

The suits are strictly tailor made in decided mannish styles, in plaids, checks and fancy mixtures. You may be the lucky winner of the $400 corner lot in the Wheeler Addition, or the winner of the second prize, a corner lot in the Burke Addition.

At the end of FOUR MONTHS three disinterested parties, in no way connected with The Journal, will be elected to superintend the counting of the Coupons. To the one who has the most Coupons, with his or her name written thereon, will be awarded the FIRST PRIZE, which is one of the best corner lots in the WHEELER ADDITION, and of the value of $400. To the one who has the second largest number of Coupons, with his or her name written thereon, will be awarded the SECOND PRIZE, a corner lot in the BURKE ADDITION of the value of $350.

Get as many SUNDAY JOURNALS as you can each week for four months and SAVE THE COUPONS.

Arrangements have been made with the following named merchants to co-operate with The Journal in distributing these Coupons. From them Journal Coupons may be obtained, one with every 25 cent purchase.

WHERE THE JOURNAL PRIZE LOTS ARE LOCATED

THE JOURNAL has acquired two corner lots in the WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION for the purpose of presenting them free to the two successful contestants in this great Coupon Contest. We have selected the lots in the WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION because it is one of the most attractive sections in Reno for a residence, being but a few minutes walk from the center of the city, having water, electric light, etc. These lots will be very desirable properties for the successful contestants to build upon, or to keep as a land investment. The WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION has been offered to the public only for the past year, and up to the present time half of the lots have been sold. Several beautiful homes have been built on the Addition; more are being constructed, and a dozen are in immediate contemplation.

The WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION is in the healthiest part of Reno, being located on one of the highest portions, with a gentle slope to the West. The view is incomparable. To the East lie Sparks, Washoe; to the North Peavine Mountains, while looking to the South is the beautiful Truckee Meadows bordered in the distance by the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

We would strongly advise those who have not seen this Addition to visit it at once. Ascertain for yourself if it is not one of the finest building sites in Reno. Glance at the locality sketch and measure the distance of the WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION from the center of Reno. Satisfy yourself on this important point, then go out and view the property.

You will be agreeably surprised at the rapid development on every hand; the beautiful homes already constructed and the foundations laid for other residences. You cannot fail, also, to recognize the value of the two lots being offered by the JOURNAL free to the public.

There is everything in this rising addition to satisfy the most exacting. Good and plentiful supply of city water, street lights, electric lights for the home; good drainage; lots 50x140 feet and at reasonable prices; close proximity to the public school; easy distance from the center of the town, etc. The nature of the ground is gravel loam, excellent for building purposes as well as for gardening. Water is not encountered at less than 26 feet, thus affording dry cellars.

Building restrictions are placed on the property, thus securing for all time residences of a superior and costly class. The new bridge already contracted for, which will cross the Truckee river at the foot of Second street, will connect directly with Holcomb Avenue, running parallel with the V. & T. Ry. and will give the WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION direct communication with the center of the business district and lessen the distance by 3 or 4 minutes.

The prices of the lots in the WHEELER-BURKE ADDITION range from $200 up to $400 with an additional $50 for corner lots. Full particulars of this tract may be obtained from Mr. S. H. Wheeler, 349 Sierra St., or Mr. Chas. H. Burke, 501 South Center St.

GUARD SHIPS of the DEEP

ONE of the most important branches of the government service is the system of beacons and lights along the coast for the guidance of shipping and the crew of craft wave-hammered vessels making the coast after a long voyage welcomes the first glimpse of the outposts of civilization—the lightships that guard our shores as pendants from a necklace.

These little craft, for they are no longer than the river steamer, occupy the most perilous positions on the ocean. Lying in the path of shipping they hang to a hundred fathoms of chain on the outermost edge of a series of shoals where crosswise current, vicious seas and yawning quicksands await the coming of the ill-fated craft that gets within their treacherous grasp. Unlike the coaster or the deep water craft, the lightships have but a small scope for operation. Their positions are noted on the charts and they are supposed to be there at all times. When the wind howls in fury and mountainous seas sweep across the ocean out of the darkness and when other craft of every description are hurrying either to the open sea or the shelter of the harbors the lightship must remain so long as the chain will hold and the little ship will remain aloft.

It is during such nights that the lightship is the most valuable, and is most sorely needed by the skipper of the storm-caught ship coming on the coast. If the distant rolling hills of water toss aloft two gleams of yellowish light he heaves a sigh of relief for he knows he is sure of his reckoning and his vessel is over for the time being. If the night thickens with the squall and vapor of the winter fog, and the fast falling flakes of snow hang a curtain of opaque around his ship the distant wall of a storm or the deep-throated clang of a bell tells him in language plain that he is rapidly approaching a maritime graveyard and, changing his course, he steers seaward with a prayer for the brave and gallant men whose vigil saved him.

And what of those who man the lightship? Are they leading lives of independence, living like nabobs and monarchs of all they survey? Far from it. The life-saving service has been called the most onerous and the poorest paid of all branches, but in many respects it cannot compare with the lighthouse department.

Again and again, efforts have been made to have the lifesavers better paid and pensioned when worn out, but never has a man who has served six months or more of every year on a buffeted ship on the dreary wastes of the ocean cruising at anchor, eternally pitching and tossing. In calm and moderate weather it requires practically every moment to keep the ship clean and the paint bright because in storms all the men can do is to hold on and watch the sea strip off the paint and to cover the vessel from waterline to topmast with sail.

In moderate weather the regular routine is carried on, and the watches are divided into shifts of four hours each. The regular crew of the large outside ships consists of 12 men—captain, mate, chief engineer, assistant engineer, cook, three firemen and four seamen. On the ships equipped with wireless telegraphy there are two operators who are from the Navy.

The wages vary with the size of the ship and the location of her station, but the highest are: Captain, $83; mate, $65; chief engineer, $80; firemen, $40; cook, $35; and seamen, $30. In addition the government allows each man $5 per month for sustenance based on the Navy's ration. The food is furnished by contract, but by careful management by the captain and the cook the rations can be made very palatable. The privilege of "commuting" certain of the articles on the list is also given the men, and in this way many extras are secured.

Some of the men chip in and take fowls along and on this they hang an interesting little story. Last December the crew of Diamond Shoals, No. 72, took along several geese, among which was a gender. The latter bird absolutely refused to fatten, but instead he made friends with all on board until, by the time it was ready to be served, he had so endeared himself that his execution was indefinitely postponed and today he is ship's mascot.

Since the food provided is of the plainest character, it is up to the cook to convert it into tempting dishes, but if the men would have any delicacies they must depend either upon the skill of the "doctor," as the ship's cook is called, or upon passing vessels to contribute or exchange for fresh fish. In this respect it must be said that masters of vessels are generous, but since some of the lightships are located where the winds are usually blowing and the seas running high they do not often receive outside assistance and they have to depend on their own scanty supply.

As a rule the watches on the lightships are divided into shifts of four hours each, and in moderate weather the breakfast bell rings at 7 in the morning. Half an hour later the captain inspects the vessel and gives orders for the day. Then the men turn to and scrub, polish, holystone and clean until 11:30, when the first bell for dinner rings. The meal is served at noon, after which work is resumed until about 3:30 o'clock when the watch for the evening is set and the men knock off. Below decks the engineers and firemen divide the day, as does the captain and mate, each taking a full 12-hour shift, but the seamen, in addition to their work, have to stand watches of from one to four hours according to the weather.

Upon the officer in charge devolves the duty of casting the log every two hours to ascertain the force and direction of the current and to observe the velocity and direction of the wind as well as to note the number and character of vessels passing. This is carefully set down in the ship's log and monthly reports are submitted to the hydrographic office.

Between work and watches the men amuse themselves as best they can. In stormy weather they can do little except hold themselves in position and to keep from being shaken up like dice in a box, but when there is a spell of good weather and the ship is trim they have considerable leisure and then they endeavor to pass away the time either by reading, fishing, playing cards or boxing. The latter is the favorite pastime and many a good bout is fought on the forecastle.

There is a story told of a young pugilist who, wishing to drop out of the limelight if possible for a few months, embarked on a cruise on a lightship, and after he recovered from the effects of seasickness, proceeded to "take a fall" out of the man who claimed to be the champion of the fleet. The pugilist soon found that, despite his superior knowledge, the man against him was good and that all he needed was training to fit him for the professional ring.

The sailor was a young man and he listened to the pugilist, with the result that he gave up the sea and for several years he was a well-known figure at a number of bouts that attracted considerable attention in sporting circles. Then he, like many others, born with the lust of the sea in his blood, forsook the land and, after making a few deep-sea voyages, returned to the lightship service where he now is.

One of the most welcome breaks in the monotony of the outer lightships is the visit of the tender that comes with fresh supplies and a change of crew. Very often because of the roughness of the sea the tender cannot approach close enough to put the supplies on board, and it has been known that the lightship men have been compelled to eat of the remnants of the salt barrel while tins of fresh meat was jumping about on the tender but a half mile away.

There are a number of societies who make a point of looking after the mental welfare of the lightship men, and in every district there are officers which distribute books and magazines to the men. Reading matter is always acceptable, and if it is sent to the Lighthouse Board, at Washington, it will be forwarded to either the lightship men or the lighthouse-keepers who are also glad to receive it, for their lives, too, are monotonous, but not so tempestuous.

In this connection it must be mentioned that the building of a lightship on Diamond Shoals has been a dream for years and years. Several attempts have been made to plant such a structure there, but all have been unsuccessful, and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended on elaborate caissons which have been towed to the site in moderate weather, but in each instance before the structure could be sunk to a sufficient depth to make it stable, a storm has arisen, and the builders had to flee for their lives, while the caisson disappeared beneath the waves and was quickly swallowed by the insatiable quicksands.

At present a Boston firm has succeeded in making an agreement with the government to erect a lighthouse blowing and the seas running high they do not often receive outside assistance and they have to depend on their own scanty supply.

A LIGHTSHIP, HER CREW AND MASCOT

on the shoals and it is expected that the attempt will be made this summer, but all save the firm who will do the work regard the attempt as useless because of the opinion that the only beacon that will ever guard the graveyard of the Atlantic will be those on lightships.

The lightships have an interesting history and they have formed a portion of the coastwise beacon system since about 1828, when the first one was established off the entrance to Boston. The craft that first acted in that capacity was of the ordinary type of sailing vessel, with her spars cut down, and for a number of years it was customary for the government to either buy ships already built and fit them out or to build vessels for the purpose along the lines of vessels of those days.

In later years, when the service expanded in numbers and the art of ship-building advanced, the lightships too, became of different type. It has been the experience of mariners the world over that a boat of moderate dimensions will ride the sea with much more ease and with less longitudinal strain than a large vessel, and for that reason the lightships have been kept small, the largest of them being only 115 feet over all, scarcely the size of an ordinary river steamer.

What they lack in size they make up in strength of construction, and since they have no records for fast moving to break and their usefulness consists of staying in one place, every feature of the ordinary sea-going craft gives way to strength and stability. The modern lightships are designed with a view to being steady in all kinds of weather, and, while they are far from being what the landmen would call easy, they are nevertheless far superior to the average vessel at anchor.

There are at present 49 lightships in the service and all, with the exception of 14, are stationed along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Texas. The Atlantic Coast is a treacherous one, and along the entire length are vast areas of shoals which extend out miles and miles, and the bottom is of such a character that lightships cannot be built, and even if they were it is doubtful whether they could be maintained.

With the establishing of the first lightship along the northern or down-east coast there came a demand from other sections of the coast for similar protection for its shipping, and that demand is being heard even to this day, and it is probable that within the next decade the service on the Atlantic Coast will be increased materially and a number of shoals have lightships over them.

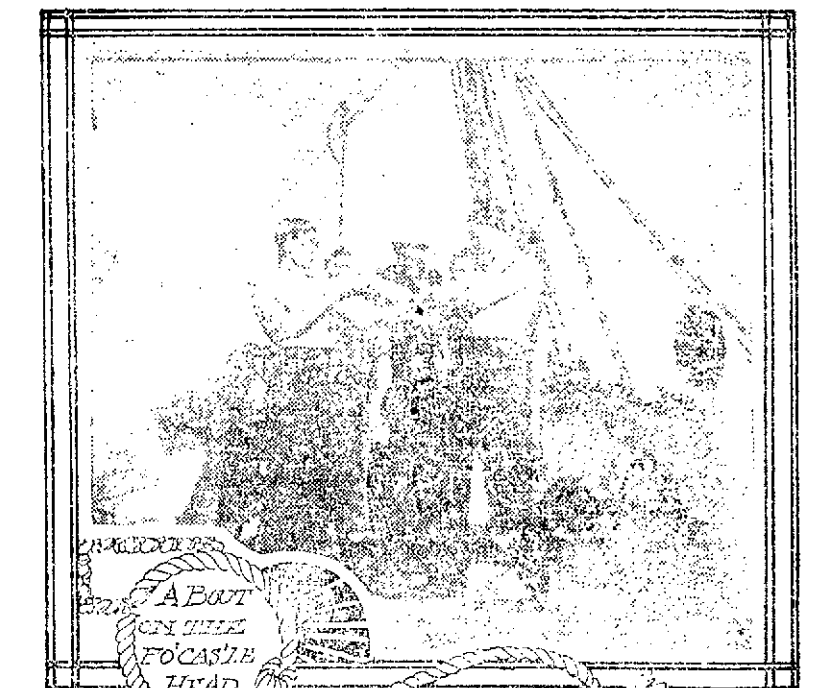

Each lightship in addition to being painted with a hull of one color and upper works with another and the type of rib specified in the buoy book, together with its exact position by magnetic bearings, has the name of the particular shoal it guards painted on both sides of its hull in letters six feet high, so that in clear weather there can be no doubt as to its identity.

If one would start from Portland, Me., and make a cruise along the Atlantic seaboard in the course of his trip he would be able to see, strung out along the coast line, the fleet of lightships, anchored on the most prominent shoals and from which they take their names, as follows:

- Cape Elizabeth, No. 74.
- Boston, No. 54.
- Pollack Rip Shoals, No. 47.

- Fire Island, No. 63.
- Sandy Hook, No. 51.
- Scotland, No. 11.
- Northeast End, No. 44.
- Five Fathom Bank, No. 79.
- Overfalls, No. 69.

- Frying Pan Shoals, No. 1.
- Charleston, No. 34.
- Martin's Industry, No. 43.
- Columbia River Bar, No. 81.
- Gulston, No. 28.
- On the Pacific Coast the light vessels are:
- San Francisco.
- Blunt's Reef, off Cape Mendocino.
- Columbia River Bar.
- Knappa Reef, near Cape Flattery.
- There are 10 small ships on the Great Lakes.

Of all the ships in the service there are none whose pos is fraught with the peril and hardship of the station on Diamond Shoals. While other ships are sent to their stations to remain there permanently, the crew being relieved from time to time and the supplies being brought to them by the lighthouse tenders, the tempestuous weather of the Diamond Shoals is such that the vessels have to be relieved every three months, and for these shoals there are two vessels, which alternate on that station.

These vessels are the highest type of their class and are constructed especially for that particular service, although the ships that have been built within the past few years are nearly like them. Owing to the loss of Nantuxet Shoals lightship, relief ship No. 58, and the necessity of having these ships protected while the weather ship, No. 64, was being repaired, it was necessary to send the reserve Diamond Shoal ship to that place, and at present No. 71 is doing double duty, and when she comes off her station this month she will have been in continuous service 10 months, which is unusual.

No. 71 is an interesting craft. She is 112 feet long and has a depth of about 20 feet. The hull is of the best quality of steel and is divided into five watertight compartments, so that if the water should fill three of them the remaining two would keep her afloat. Partly to strengthen her she has three decks built almost as strongly as those of a warship. The quarters for the captain, officers and crew are on the main deck, while the coal bunkers and apartments for supplies are below. The vessel is lighted throughout by electricity and heated by steam, so that at all times she is fairly comfortable. The masthead lights, which are 50 feet above deck, consist of two clusters of six lamps, each lamp as powerful as the ordinary street arc lamp, and on a clear night their flash can be seen 20 miles and in stormy weather at least 10 miles.

In addition she is equipped with an 18-inch searchlight which throws a steady beam to the southward and eastward about midway between the horizon and zenith. The effect of this lamp is best in cloudy weather when the clouds hang low and it produces a weird effect that has been reported to have been seen at a distance of 40 miles.

To keep the vessel on her station required an enormous anchor and chain. The anchor, which is of the mushroom type, weighs 7,500 pounds and is moored in 180 feet of water, the chain, each link of which is one and five-eighths of an inch in diameter, is 720 feet long and weighs 13,200 pounds. This chain is attached to a great iron cask which acts as a float, as it would be impossible for the ship to sustain its weight, and from the float another chain of equal size leads through a hawse pipe in the nose of the vessel to a huge winchlass provided with coil springs to take up the strain.

In event of the chain parting, as it does sometimes, the ship is not altogether helpless, as she is equipped with an engine and has a set of sails to enable her to ride out the gale and to return to her station when the storm has abated. It was by this means that Cape Lookout Shoals, No. 80, worked her way to port after having broken adrift last April.

The first lightship established on Diamond Shoals was on September 30, 1897, when No. 69 was sent there. Although she was at that time the best the department had ever built, and she was thought to be of sufficient weight to keep her there forever, in August 1899, during that memorable hurricane along the Atlantic Coast as the most destructive in history, the lightship broke adrift during the height of the gale and after drifting for a few hours went ashore.

It was almost a miracle that her crew did not perish, and it was only due to her superior strength that she outlived the on-coming of the monstrous waves, for when the storm struck the Diamond Shoals is such and she is located so far from the coast that there are two vessels, which alternate on that station.

There were a score of others that piled up on the beach almost under the shadow of Hatteras light, but of them all she was the only one that survived, and a few weeks later she was pulled up into dry dock, and today she is doing duty once more for her experiences.

Another lightship that survived a trip a more tolerable conditions was the Commodore River Bar, on the Pacific Coast, in a storm of unusual severity she broke adrift and was carried on the edge of a wave across more than two miles of shoals less than six feet deep and landed on a strip of beach about three miles wide in the heart of which was a bay.

Repeatedly examined the vessel and found her intact, but the lack of getting her back over the beach she came ashore in a damaged condition and the government was almost on the point of either taking her apart and transporting her piecemeal to a shipyard or else abandoning her altogether when a wrecker came forward with the proposition to put her on wheels and carry her in the bay on the other side.

This plan was adopted and after weeks of laborious effort the ship was hauled up on a cradle and placed on slides. Then teams of horses were enlisted into service, and foot by foot through patches of woods and across quicksands the vessel was gradually worked across the land and hauled. She is now in the service, not having started a rivet by her unique voyage on land and water.

An Undisguised Gillette

William Gillette, the famous Comedienne character actor, has less reasons than most actors to complain of the critics, but he is by nature reserved and perhaps sensitive. Almost alone in his profession, he makes a rule never if he can help it to let most newspapers read. On one occasion when an old personal friend became a dramatic critic he made it understood that the acquaintance was off. Evidently this, a critic who happened to be at the same dinner party during Mr. Gillette's last appearance in New York purposely avoided him.

When the men were on their way to join the ladies after dinner the actor so far departed from his custom as to make the advances. "I don't know whether you know who I am," he said. "You accuse me of gross ignorance in my profession," the critic answered, amused. "Not at all," Mr. Gillette hastened to assure him with a quiet smile. "I thought it possible that you had failed to penetrate my various disguises."

A Frozen Flock of Sheep

A miner who recently returned from a six-month tour in North Alaska states that while in the mountains some distance from Dawson City he and his servants found a flock of sheep frozen in the ice. This was at a height of about 8,000 feet above sea level. The explanation given is that the flock was caught by a particularly severe winter blizzard while crossing the hill. On the appearance of the snow the sheep must have huddled together and perished, the stiff forming an icy coat around them. Those portions of the bodies which projected above the ice were devoured by bears and wolves.

A False Campaign Cry

By Wm. E. Smythe

WM. E. SMYTHE

THE Republicans are preparing to enter the congressional campaign with the slogan, "Stand by Roosevelt!" They will ask for a new lease of power in the House of Representatives on the ground that this is necessary as an expression of confidence in the President and that the election of a Democratic House would be regarded as a repudiation of the President's policies. Every trust-owned Senator and Congressman, and even Uncle Joe Cannon, whose affiliations with the money power and contempt for everything savoring of reform are notorious, will be on the stump, shouting "Stand by Roosevelt!"

This campaign cry will not ring true in the ears of the voting millions. They know it to be essentially false—know the good things the President has done are more Democratic than Republican, and know that in order to extract good legislation from a Republican Congress the President has had to labor like a perspiring dentist struggling with a stubborn molar, and that he has only succeeded after hauling the patient across the floor and planting his foot firmly on the patient's neck.

It is only two years since the last presidential election. The Republicans went through that campaign upon a platform that made no mention whatever of railroad regulation. The people demanded relief from extortionate and unequal railroad rates and the Democrats voiced the demand in their platform. The Republicans were perfectly silent. While Democrats were demanding railroad regulation, their Republican friends were filling the campaign chest with railroad contributions. They had no more idea of enacting railroad legislation than they have of advocating government ownership now.

In less than a month after election, the President sent in a message urging drastic measures of railroad regulation. There he stood, a sight for gods and men, with both feet firmly planted on the Democratic platform. He had the cordial support of Democrats in both houses of Congress on this proposition, and very reluctant support by the most prominent members of his own party. The Republican majority of the Senate committee on interstate commerce emphasized its disgust with the President by naming Senator Tillman, a radical Democrat, as the man to make the report to the Senate and fight for the President's measure on the floor. It was the Democrats who were then shouting, "Stand by Roosevelt!"

No argument is needed to enforce this statement of the case. The facts are known to all intelligent people. The President took up a Democratic policy, obtained the loyal support of the Democratic minority in Congress, and metaphorically speaking, "sand-bagged" a stulen and reluctant Republican majority into going with him. Even then he was compelled to make certain concessions which went against his grain in order to get a fairly decent bill.

What was true of the railroad bill was equally true, even if less palpable to popular vision, of every other progressive measure passed at the recent session of Congress. The Republican party as now constituted is not a reform party nor a party of great moral ideas. Its masses are all right, as are the masses of all parties that ever have been or ever will be but its leadership, with few exceptions, is in the hands of those who are affiliated with great corporate organizations and who are the open or covert defenders of the worst abuses of the times. President Roosevelt, a man of the widest human sympathies and purest purposes, is compelled to fight every inch of his way toward reform over the protests and subtle opposition of the real leaders of his party in Congress.

Approach Washington from any direction and you are in the sunshine of Roosevelt's popularity until you reach the District of Columbia. Cross the line and enter the capital city, and you instantly feel the cold shadow of disapproval for almost everything the President stands for. Enter the capitol building itself, and Republican criticism of the President is so thick that you can cut it with a knife. In Washington, only Democrats are found applauding the radical tendencies of Theodore Roosevelt. The closer you come to the big, dominating intellects of the Republican leadership, the more discouraging comments you hear concerning the singular character in the White House.

Speaker Cannon is the real voice of his party in Washington, albeit his voice frequently sinks to a whisper when the President shakes the Big Stick at him and arouses the hoarse cheers of the multitude. The speaker would not mind the stick if he did not know it represented the desires of the masses.

Uncle Joe's philosophy, and it is the philosophy of his party leaders with the very conspicuous exception of the President, is so simple that it can be expressed in his favorite phrase of two words—"stand pat." He is the apostle of stand-patriotism. He says "this is a hell of a great country," by which he means to say that we are so prosperous that we could not be more so. If he had his way, railroads would not be regulated, nor meat inspected, nor pure food made compulsory by law. There would be no tariff changes and no modern improvements of any sort in the way of national legislation.

Uncle Joe is a very rich man and can afford to be content with economic conditions. He is a very successful politician and can afford to be satisfied with existing political conditions. He is, in the words of Collier's Weekly, "far more popular than he deserves to be," and can afford to indulge in the luxury of ultra-conservatism. There is no reason to doubt his honesty or sincerity until he gets out on the stump to yell "Stand by Roosevelt!" He cannot be sincere about that proposition, because the logical way to stand by Roosevelt would be to retire the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon to private life and put in his place a speaker of the House of Representatives who believes in going forward instead of standing pat.

As with Cannon, so with Aldrich, with Foraker, with Spooner, and with all the others who will go before the people of their respective states this fall and implore them to "stand by Roosevelt." They do not stand by the President themselves with any degree of enthusiasm or sincerity when Congress is in session. They try to hamper and thwart him in his effort to translate popular demands into law, passing meat inspection bills with undated labels, railroad rate bills with awkward provisions for judicial review, and pure food bills rendered null and void by the "accidental" failure of appropriations to carry them into effect. And now they are about to appeal for another Congress of their own kind on the strength of Roosevelt's popularity.

The Republican campaign cry is a fraud. It is deliberately designed to humbug the voters. The scheme is to get an anti-Roosevelt Congress under false pretenses. And, like all the schemes devised by the clever leaders who have fooled the people so long, it is extremely shrewd. Here is the way they figure it: If the country responds and chooses a Congress of Cannons and Aldrichs, and men of their ilk, to "stand by Roosevelt," the interests of plutocracy will be safe for another two years. Nothing of real consequence will be done to help the people. We will have more meat labels without dates, more meat inspections at the expense of the people, more pure food in the purely Pickwickian sense that we continue to eat adulterated products because somebody "overlooked" the necessary appropriation. On the other hand, if the country sends a Democratic House to the sixtieth Congress, these plutocratic managers will shed great crocodile tears, and say: "Just as we feared—the country is frightened at the President's tendencies and he has ruined his party."

It is sincerely to be hoped that just this once the clever managers will be fooled themselves. And the way to fool them is to elect Democrats who will really "stand by Roosevelt." So far from ruining the President, this will enable him to finish his administration in a blaze of glory. He will be able to carry out his reform ideas on genuine lines. He can have rate regulation that really regulates, meat labels that tell you whether the stuff was packed this year or in some prehistoric age, and pure food bills backed by good honest dollars to make them hit the target.

Let us "stand by Roosevelt" by all means in so far as he is disposed to carry out the great principles laid down in Democratic national platforms and so eloquently voiced by William Jennings Bryan. The way for Nevada to stand by the presidential policies which are so popular with the masses of both parties and so extremely unpopular with the Republican leaders at Washington is to elect a Democratic legislature and a Democratic Congressman.

IN the Denicke case in San Francisco, Attorney Ruef, for the defense, accuses the District Attorney of making a "grand-stand" play by prosecuting a rich man's son. Of course Mr. Ruef's work in defending the rich man's son is done purely out of love and not for pay.

THE new uniforms designed by an English tailor for the United States army will include trousers with a mutton-leg. With the goose-step and the pouter-pigeon chest, the American soldier can get a job in any "zoo" in the world.

THE best evidence that Harry Thaw can give of his insanity was his action in getting rid of one of the best law firms in the State of New York as legal counsel.

JIMMY BRITT doesn't care to accept the offer of $5000 for a pugilistic exhibition in Goldfield. Maybe he is afraid he would have to fight.

Time To Leave Off

It is time to leave off wearing linen with worn and frayed edges, the result of poor, indifferent or reckless laundering. Especially is this the case when we do such capital work at no greater charges than for inferior or careless handling. You have only to call, write, or phone for our wagon, when we'll show what can be done by a laundry skillfully managed.

We Do Good Work

We can and do do the kind of laundry work you like. Perfectly clean, and perfectly finished. White goods as pure white as mountain snow. We give clothes very little wear. All because we have the right method, good management, and workers who know their business.

Don't Worry With Washing

Housekeepers, don't worry with poor washerwomen. The Troy Laundry can handle your household work cheaper and more satisfactorily than the washerwoman, and you will know that it has been given every sanitary safeguard. When you get the laundry back everything will be spotlessly clean and ready to use. It is far superior to home washing. Phone us now.

THE TROY LAUNDRY

What We Aimed To Do;

When we started in the laundry business five years ago, we aimed to give to the people of Reno the very best work that it was possible for a modern equipped laundry to turn out.

With this object in view, we erected a large brick building at 23-25 High Street, near the Truckee River, undoubtedly one of the best laundry sites to be found anywhere.

We had, as we now have, a management well versed in the multitudinous requirements of a first class laundry, and we installed a plant such as is not excelled anywhere on the Pacific coast.

What We Have Accomplished

As to what we have accomplished, let each one answer for whom we have done work.

Our prices are the same as those which prevail on the Coast, our work is unequalled. We have gone ahead on our own merits and have built up a trade of satisfied customers.

For the future, as in the past, we shall endeavor to please everyone with thoroughly good work, prompt delivery at the time promised, reasonable charges, courteous treatment.

This is what we aimed to do, and this is what we accomplished.

Sleeves Glued; Tempers ruffled

Perhaps you have been getting back your shirts with the sleeves so glued together with starch that it has almost necessitated your tearing the material in order to open them. Now the Troy Laundry knows better than that, and we will prove it to you if you will send your next laundry to us. We guarantee linen laundered by us to last longer and give better satisfaction to the wearer.

Careful Ladies; Clean Frocks

Women are neater than men—it's expected of them. An untidy man is bad enough; a slovenly woman—unbearable. So, the careful woman will keep her frocks clean. Substantial fabrics may be "tubbed," dainty, sheer organdies, dimities, swisses, etc., should be dry cleaned. The Troy Laundry does this work, and does it well. All work is guaranteed, called for and delivered.
